

67 COMPLETE HIGH SCHOOL WORK HERE

Diplomas Presented At Close of Final Commencement Program.

Janesville High School's 1920 commencement exercises came to a close last night when Emil F. Haugemerson, president of the school board, presented the 67 members of the class with their diplomas, following the customary commencement night program, in the Congregational church.

The class, consisting of 46 girls and 21 boys, marched down the steps of the choir loft to the tune of "On Wisconsin" and took their seats on the enlarged platform and others on the steps. The platform was prettily decorated with the American flag, with baskets of peonies and branches. The girls, wearing corsage bouquets, were dressed in white. Following the presentation of the diplomas, the high school orchestra played a selection and Rev. J. Hart Truesdale gave the invocation.

U. W. Man Gives Address.

Bethel Fifield, who ranks second in the class, and thus salutatorian, gave the address of welcome. A. J. W. Man, president of the board of music in the schools, followed. The address of the evening was given by Dr. J. H. Faust, pastor of the university of Wisconsin.

Supt. H. H. Faust included many words of sound advice in his speech introducing him.

Speech was laid upon the "elementaries of preparedness in Dr. Faust's address to the class. Many incidents were given of the necessity of mental and spiritual preparedness in preparing for citizenship. To appreciate the opportunities of living under this government, to have developed sympathy, to have will-power, perseverance, and health are among the requisites for good American citizenship, he declared.

Class Has Many Honors.

The Junior-Senior Girls' Glee club sang two songs, following which the program was completed with the presentation of diplomas.

The class of 1920 lays claim to many extra honors, chief among them that 28 of the class graduated with extra credit, that is, more than was necessary for graduation and four of them, Bethel Fifield, Lovida Langdon, Ross Schwegler, and George Todd, completed their course in three and one-half years.

NOVEL WAY TO USE STRIPED MATERIAL

By ELOISE

Stripes and plaids are very fashionable this season. And do not think because you are tall and slender that you cannot wear that beautiful striped silk you saw the other day. There are many ways of making up striped goods which permit the tall woman to indulge in them. Striped novelty and sports silks and striped jersey silks are quite the most popular fabrics for summer frocks and suits. Here is a delightful model made of rose and white striped silk in a very unusual design. (The skirt is accented pleated, a tad of an hour in it is made with the stripes running horizontally. The blouse is a belted Russian affair. It is made with the stripes running the other way. The elbow sleeves have odd little cuffs and the neckline and peplum edge are finished with folds of the material corded and set in the blue. Here a slice of the silk is worn, but one of these very dainty little lace vestees or crisp white organza ones would be very charming for summer wear.

COMMODORE THEO PORTER DIES AT AGE OF 74

Annapolis, Md., June 18.—Commodore Theodore Porter, U. S. N. (retired) died at the Naval hospital here today after an illness of 4 months. He was a son of the late Admiral David D. Porter, who was graduated from the naval academy in the class of 1870 and was transferred to the retired list in 1908. He was 74 years old.

PARADISE PURSUED

A girl and a boy and an apple-tree. And a long-gone June that watches the three.

An Eden surely it might have been. Except for a little, tip-tilted chin. A house, a laugh and a saucy pout. And the bottom of all the world drops out!

A man and a girl and another tree. Another June by the side of the sea. Then a faltering heart that splits at a frown. While Castles of Air come tumbling down.

And a vanishing Eden that leaves him wise—As he was in his barefoot paradise.

So June's may come and June may go. But seems to me he'll never know. That scenery don't make a play. And Eden aren't built in a single day.

Though a boy and a girl and an apple-tree. Make fairly pleasant company.

INFURIATED ALBANIANS KILL 330 ITALIANS

Geneva, June 18.—Three hundred and thirty Italian prisoners have been killed by infuriated Albanians at Tirana, according to a telegram from Belgrade. It is said the Albanians were maddened by news of the assassination of Essad Pasha, former provisional president of Albania, in Paris, early this week, and attributed his death to Italian intrigue. More than a score of Italian prisoners enroute to Tirana were killed at Kruja, it is asserted, and anxiety is expressed concerning the fate of more than 7000 soldiers captured by Albanians in the fighting before Aflona where the struggle is still going on.

Turks and Armenians Are Nearing Agreement

London, June 18.—Negotiations between the Turkish and Armenian people and Armenians are proceeding favorably and an agreement is expected shortly, says a Moscow dispatch to the Herald, which says the Russian soviet government is acting as a mediator between the two countries. The question of evacuating Armenia against Turkish troops will probably be solved, the dispatch says, by a clause in the treaty binding Turkey from keeping an army within a specified distance of the Armenian frontier.

GOSH BUT that trolley. WAS ALMOST as packed. AS IF they'd squeezed. ALL THE candidates. FOR PRESIDENT in. WHENEVER THE car swayed. I SAT on the lap. OF A pudgy lady. MY BRAND new derby. WAS SUNK without a trace. AND A garlic breath. BLEW DOWN my neck. AND MY foot went to sleep. AND THE rest of me. ENVIED MY foot. AND I WAS sore. YES, GOOD and sore. AND THEN a chap, WHO CAUGHT my eye. CHERISHED ME up. WITH A jolly grin. AND SAID to me. "NO GROUCHES Now." AND HONEST, I felt better. IT WAS an ad. OF A cigarette. BUT I'LL say this. IF THE ad alone. CAN CHASE a grouch. THE CIGARETTES. THEMSELVES MUST do. WHAT THE car card said. "THEY SATISFY." I'LL SAY they do.

The DIARY OF AN ENGAGED GIRL

Cecil got a gray, gliding sort of a car, and we started off as soon as we could. We took out our hats and let the winds of July wander through our hair and brains. It was a most wonderful day. We stopped along and whenever we felt like it we stopped, sat down beside a brook, and put our hot faces down into the water. The woods were hushed and delightfully cool and mysterious, and Cecil was all for staying in one particular spot that we tumbled upon, for hours, but I was not keen.

So by degrees we made our way along. Once we collided with another car, so absorbed were we in each other and the landscape. And once Cecil brought the car to a sudden stop—and then turned and just looked into my eyes and said that he has until I really didn't know what to do with my own at all. Then he started off again. That boy is apt to do anything at times.

By twilight we reached a dear, sleepy little place, that announced to us that it was dinner time. Cecil said that he had a very good idea of the sound of the sun and the last rays of the sun were burning up its stores, when we found ourselves seated at a table in a veranda overlooking all the evening splendor, tired, hungry, but very happy.

I ordered a delicious dinner, and we became silent, and reverent, for the world was changing to a misty purple, before our eyes, and the lights of the boats were beginning to wink back at us fantastically, as we watched. From a sprig in a bush nearby a drowsy whip-poor-will called his evening song to our hearts, and there was hardly a breath stirring on this mid-summer night.

We enjoyed our dinner and the discreet music that was wafted out to us from somewhere inside. It was a long way from New York.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: If a girl has no parents, but a large family of brothers and sisters, in whom she should her wedding announcement be made? Will you please give me some pretty ways in which to announce the coming wedding at an announcement luncheon? X. Y. Z.

It would be proper to have your marriage announced by the oldest married brother or sister, or by whoever is the logical head of the family. "Mr. and Mrs. John Smith have the honor to announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary Jones, to James Henry Brown, on Saturday, June nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty," would be the proper form, or, lacking parents, the young people often announce their own marriage, thus: "Mr. James Henry Brown and Mary Jones have the honor to announce their marriage on June nineteenth, nineteen hundred and twenty."

For the announcement of the engagement at a luncheon, the names of the engaged pair, or better still a small folder containing their pictures, should be concealed in the folded napkins or in the individual favors.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I am 14 years old and have been invited to a surprise party and told to bring a boy friend. I have never going anywhere with a boy. Should I go? I can't go to the party or should I invite some one from school or the boy next door? The boy next door is a young fellow, but we have always been good friends.

DOROTHY DARRING.

Invite the boy next door. The fact that he is a young fellow should make no difference.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: At a home wedding how should the bride party be seated? The wedding is to be in the late afternoon and a reception will follow in the evening. How should the invitations be written and how should they be given? At the reception should the guests remove their wraps and who should act as host and hostess? What should be served at the reception? Who should buy the bridesmaids' flowers?

RUTH.

If by your first question you mean the wedding dinner, the bride and groom should sit at the head of the table with the bride's mother and the father of the groom and the groom's father at the left of the bride. The father of the bride would be taken by the father of the bride and mother of the groom, having next to them on the one hand the attendant of honor and on the other the best man.

Wedding invitations are usually engraved and sent by mail. If the wedding is to be very small and informal, the invitations could be personal notes written by the bride.

Sometimes the heaviest outer wraps are removed at a wedding reception, but it is quite usual to retain them as one does not linger long as a rule, departing to make room for other guests.

If the reception be held at the home of the bride her parents are the host and hostess, the groom's parents receiving with them. The usher introduces the guests who are unknown to any of the receiving party and the bridesmaids and best man help to make things pleasant for all comers.

Dainty sandwiches, olives, tea, cream and cake may be served. Sometimes the groom buys the bridesmaids' flowers, but usually the bride does this.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Which is more appropriate for an engagement ring—the birth stone or the diamond? The diamond is the engagement stone. The birthstone is sometimes used if it is less expensive.

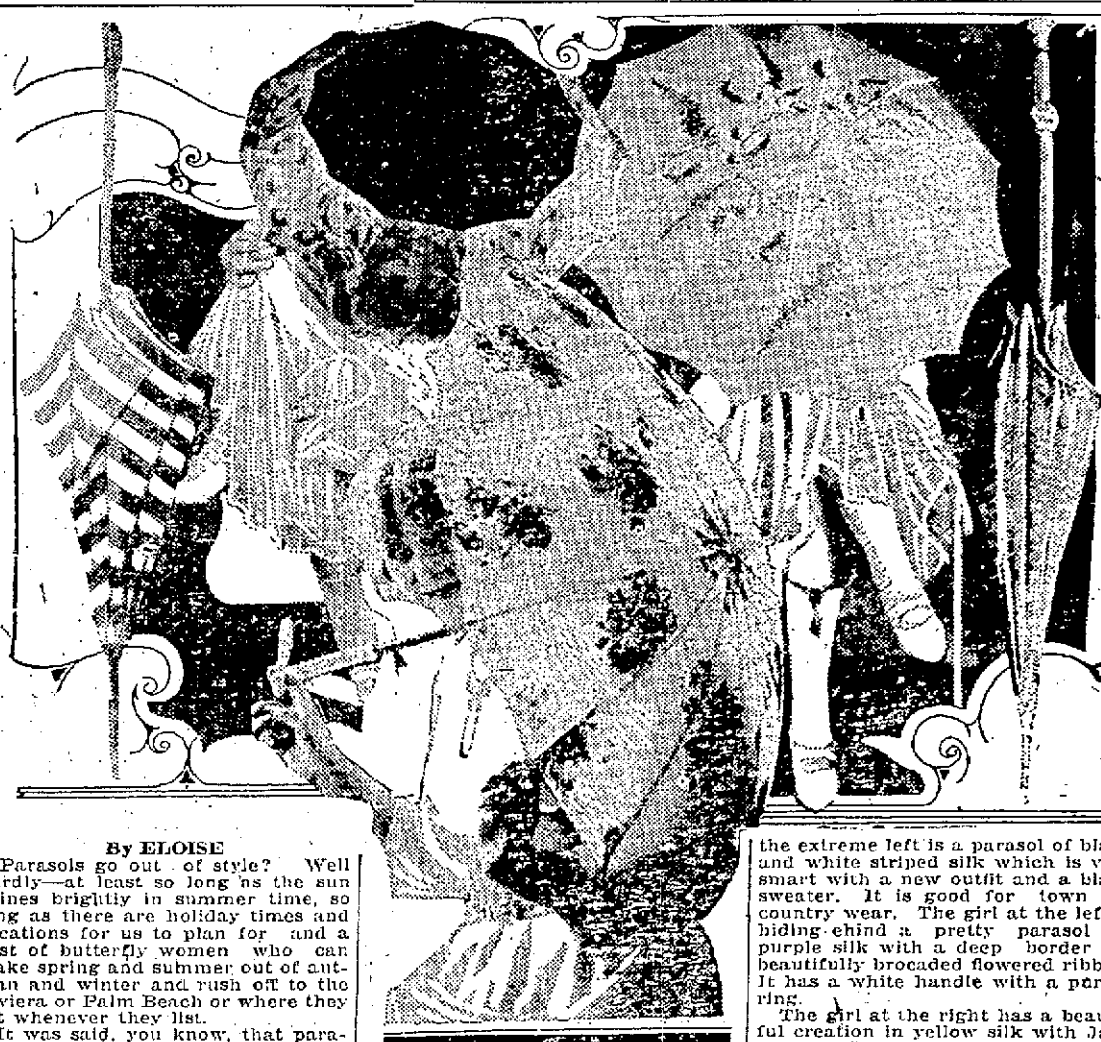

ELEAN.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: At a home wedding how should the bride party be seated? The wedding is to be in the late afternoon and a reception will follow in the evening. How should the invitations be written and how should they be given? At the reception should the guests remove their wraps and who should act as host and hostess? What should be served at the reception? Who should buy the bridesmaids' flowers?

Stylish Parasols for the Summer

Parasols go out of style? Well, hardly—at least so long as the sun shines brightly in summer time, so long as there are holiday times and vacations for us to plan for, and a host of butterfly women who can make spring and summer out of autumn and winter and rush off to the Riviera or Palm Beach or where they list whenever they list.

It was said, you know, that parasols were going out of fashion and out of use because of the possibility of using one of the new sort of umbrellas for both sunshine and rain. It would be quite a sensible idea, to be sure, and of extreme sensibility were the predominating trait in a woman's temperament when she thought about her clothes and her dress accessories, the doubtless the umbrella-parasol that serves two purposes would not be the bona fide parasol out of the running. To be sure, if you are traveling with short baggage then you usually must make one of these combination contrivances answer the purpose. Of course you don't want one of the old-fashioned, uninteresting umbrellas. They are the things that have gone for the home, so far as smart women are concerned, not the dainty parasols.

Here are some of the best of the new parasols for next summer. On the extreme left is a parasol of black and white striped silk which is very smart with a new outfit and a black sweater. It is good for town or country wear. The girl at the left is hiding behind a pretty parasol of purple silk with a deep border of beautifully brocaded flowered ribbon. It has a white handle with a purple ring.

The girl at the right has a beautiful creation in yellow silk with Japanese design embroidered in pastel shades in the center. Black and white combines in the handle and ribs. The parasol in the center is white silk and marked in gay contrast by clusters of roses. The ivory handle and ring are in keeping with the rest of the coloring. At the extreme right is a smart, little sun-stiel made of striped silk in brown and greens on a tan background. The edge is shirred on a cord and an amber and white handle make an interesting combination.

Search moistened with a little milk; stir until thick, turn into glasses and serve with plain cream. This serves three people.

Chocolate Coconut Cookies—One medium sized can sweetened condensed milk, one-half pound shredded coconut, two squares melted chocolate. Mix all together and drop by teaspoonfuls on inverted dripping pan. Bake about 10 minutes. This makes three dozen. These cookies are easily made, keep well and the fact that they require no sugar makes them especially desirable.

Indian Pudding—Four cups milk, one-quarter cup cornmeal, one-third cup molasses, three-quarters teaspoon salt, three-quarters teaspoon ginger. Cook in double boiler 20 minutes; add molasses, salt and ginger; pour into greased pudding dish; bake two hours in slow oven.

RUSSIAN BLOUSE FOR WEAR WITH SEPARATE SKIRTS

smocks are more popular. Many women have become so attached to overblouses that they have fitted their summer wardrobes with pretty models of many different fabrics in many brilliant hues. They who wear them with fresh white skirts of silk or cotton, with novelty silk sport skirts or with skirts to match.

Here is a very graceful and cool model fashioned of exquisite white georgette in the Russian blouse style. It is made on rather straight lines with a silk cord marking the waistline. The upper part of the blouse and the sleeves are daintily embroidered in a pretty shade of blue and there is a border of the embroidery about the lower edge of the blouse.

A white georgette hat is worn with this blouse which is rather unique for it is trimmed with black straw sewed on in lines which radiate from the base of the crown. A wreath of daisies encircles the crown.

Farm Hand Who Beat Vassar Girl Asks Sentence

Foughtenple, N. Y., June 15.—Frank Smith, farm hand, according to authorities, has confessed to beating a Vassar college alumna, June 8, has asked for an immediate sentence. He says he cannot explain the act which caused his arrest, but denies that he is insane. His case will be considered by the grand jury which meets early in July.

LEMON JUICE

FOR FRECKLES

Girls! Make beauty lotion for a few cents—Try It!

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost.

Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of orchard white for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck, arms and hands each day and see how freckles and blemishes disappear and how clear, soft and even white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless and never irritates.

for the student at the Cleveland Kindergarten Training school. When the housing and rooming conditions in the city tightened sufficiently to make the situation uncomfortable for the students there the school opened an unused part of the building for dormitory purposes. It is the first kindergarten training school in the country to have its own dormitory, according to reports. The parents of the out-of-town students favor the dormitory because it affords the girls all the comforts of home without the institutional atmosphere. The girls favor it for a very different reason, however. They like the new atmosphere which has been injected into the kindergarten training school life by the spreads, parties and all the other little good times which one always associates with college dormitories.

As for job-hunting, there are always more demand for kindergartners than there are girls to fill the positions, according to Miss Nettie Paris, principal. Work at the school, because of the breadth of the course and the state industrial welfare commission of California, has announced.

SNAKE HUNTING IN TUXEDO HILLS

Hooking Rattlers More Fascinating Than Trout Fishing Say Devotees.

A real sport, more fascinating than trout fishing, more humane than shooting, with an element of danger and a gentleman for an antagonist is rattlesnake hunting. Say these few dozen persons who spend all their spare time at it. Rattlesnake hunting for New Yorkers is supplied by the rocky ledges of mountains to which Tuxedo is the gateway, parts of Orange and Sullivan counties and western Connecticut, says the New York Sun and Herald.

In the high wild parts of the mountains, far back from cultivation, the rattlers have their dens, generally in a sunny ledge facing south, all events turned away from the west wind. These are winter quarters where snakes from a whole mountain perhaps a mile in radius, gather in the fall and hibernates. The young are born here in September and become localized before venturing forth. In the summer the snakes may crawl for a mile or a mile and a half and take up summer shelter under some boulder. In the fall comes the great retreat.

The rattler hunter must get out in the spring and take a heavy blanket. Armed with a heavy unbleached muslin snake bag, two forked sticks and a telescope, also an anti-venom outfit, he goes forth to take them by hand. Finding a den requires art and experience, as they are always situated in the rough and most inaccessible parts of the hills. Only by sweeping the landscape with field glasses to discover the rock formation that forms the den of the rattler can the hunter get the scent. The climb is invariably a strenuous one but has its reward, according to Raymond Ditmars of the Bronx Park Zoo, a phenomenon that upon coming out upon a rattler ledge one is confronted with a wide view of the surrounding country. He expects that something in the aesthetic nature of a rattler craves panorama.

Strike Only When Disturbed. The rattler is not to be molested at too close range, never without warning. When surprised in the open it will most often retreat. At the den the snakes seem to deal more coolly, only gliding off straight as a plumb line to a known entrance into the rocks when violently interfered with. Mr. Ditmars tells of finding a rattler in a rattler den within twenty-five feet of five or six slithered rattlers, which merely raised their heads, looked at the party and went to sleep. A rattler's appearance is accomplished in one of two ways. In case the snake is under a projecting rock and inaccessible from above two sticks are used. With one stick the snake is pinned down, while with the other a noose of waxed cord is dropped over its head. The snake is then jerked up and dropped into the bag. The rattler is then considered poor sport, the odds being strong against the snake.

When a snake lies in the open the hunter seems to use less skill. The snake is pinned behind the head. The capture is then made by hand, the grip being set directly behind the head. The snake is again dropped into the bag. The rattler is then considered poor sport, the odds being strong against the snake.

Small Chance With Hawks. A wood dove has been known to bring up a whole brood on a rattler ledge within twenty feet of the den without losing a fledgling, although rattlers sometimes eat birds. When the rattler does kill it is done instantaneously, and it is all over with the chipmunk or mouse with only the rattler's tongue that would rip the flesh from human hands and crushes the life out in one grip while rising fifty or seventy-five feet. The dead snake is dropped and the rattler settles down slowly to his feast.

The human rattler hunter makes no attempt to take all the snakes in a ledge, but spots the handsome ones, leaving the rest for an autumn visit. The Bronx Park snake hunters bring in about two dozen a year. Some they keep, some they exchange with other zoological societies, some are sent to Europe. The game of rattler catching fascinates with its own charms and dangers, quite aside from the purpose of the capture or the number of the take.

OH, THESE COWBOYS. In her new picture, "The Alkali Lake," Alice Lake plays the part of a manicurist in a small western hotel. When a cowboy sat down to be operated upon, she was discovered that his hands were lily white and his nails highly polished. All the cowboys exhibited the same urban finish, and the director found it necessary to apply dirt and sand paper in equal quantities to get the desired grimy and corrugated effect. The success by Julie Herne, whose father, James A. Herne, wrote "Shore Acres."

After eight months' trouping Francis X. Bushman and Beverly Bayne have returned to New York to their play, "The Master Thief," in shape for a Broadway run. The proof of the pudding is in the eating, always and the fact the show has played to capacity houses from New York to the coast promises much.

Annette Kellerman is planning a trip to the Orient this summer to forget the strenuous six months just passed in making her first motion picture comedy-drama, "What Women Love."

Zionist Envoys Off to Convention Which Meets in London July 4

New York—Justice Louis D. Brandeis of the U. S. supreme court, honorary president of the Zionist Organization of America, and Nathan Straus have left New York to attend the International Zionist Conference which convenes in London July 4. They are the advance guard of an American delegation of 39 elected at the extraordinary Zionist convention which was held in New York City May 9 and 10 last. The remainder of the party will sail within a few days.

The International Zionist Conference, which will be attended by large delegations from every country in Europe and delegates from Palestine, Argentina, Australia, and New Zealand, is the first world conference to be held in six years. It is regarded as one of the most important assemblies ever held in Jewish history, as it will be called upon to deal with practical questions involving preparation of Palestine as a Jewish homeland, in accord with the San Remo declaration by the peace conference. This conference recognized the Jewish claim to Palestine as its traditional and historic homeland, and placed that country under a British mandate, at the request of the Zionists, for the specific purpose of establishing a Jewish homeland, with an eye to its development in to an autonomous commonwealth.

Obstacles Overcome. This conference will therefore meet with the consciousness that the political aim of Zionism for which the government was organized in 1897 has been achieved, in spite of apparently insuperable obstacles and bitterly persistent opposition. The deliberations of the conference will be watched with intense interest by millions of Jews in the pogrom-battered countries of Europe, for whom Palestine is the only means of escape from the intolerable conditions of persecution, expropriation and massacres, in which they have lived since the outbreak of the war.

SPIRIT MEDIUMS IN BIBLE TIMES WERE BELIEVED

Dreams are frequently spoken of in almost every possible aspect by the oldest books of the world. In the Bible God speaks in a dream to Jacob about the increase of the cattle and warns Laban not to obstruct Jacob's departure. The dreams of Joseph, unsurpassed even from a literary point of view, and of Pharaoh, with a history of their fulfillment, occupy a large part of the first book of the dream of Solomon and the dreams of Nebuchadnezzar, the warning of Joseph to take the young child into Egypt, are parts of the history of the Christian religion.

The Bible distinguishes between natural dreams and those attributed to supernatural influence. It states very clearly the character of "at dreams." The hypocrite "shall fly away as a dream, and shall not be found; yea, he shall be chased away as a vision of the night," David says. "As a dream when one awaketh," the Lord shall despise the image of the proud. Solomon speaks of the character of dreams thus: "In the multitude of dreams and many visions there are also givers of vanity," of general causes he says, "For a dream cometh through the multitude of business."

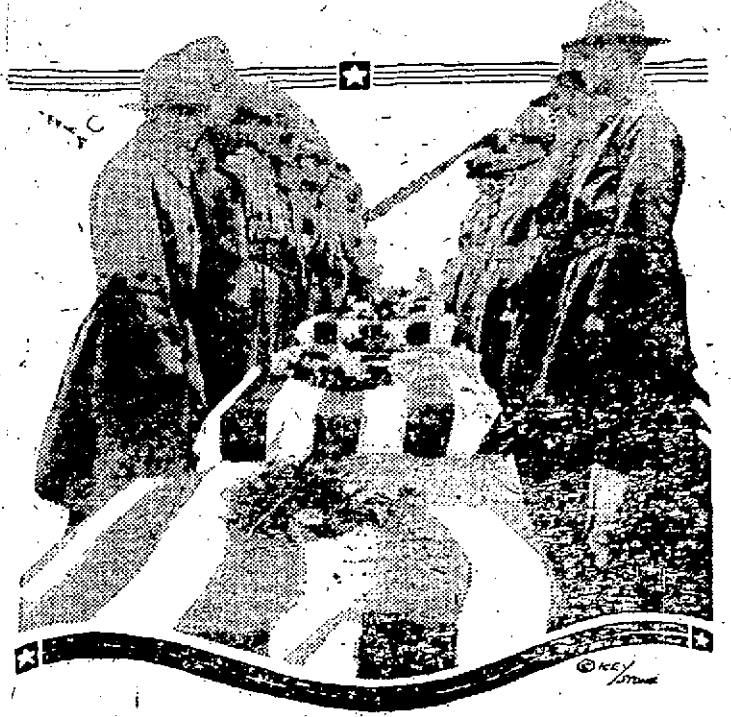

It says that men of greatest wisdom among the Romans did not think it beneath them to heed the warnings of important dreams. The emperor Augustus in his time the senate ordered Lucius Junius to erect a temple to Juno Sospita in compliance with a dream, seen Cecilia, Scipio's dream, philosophical, imaginative, grand, published in the works of Cicero, called the most beautiful thing of the kind ever written, has always been the subject of discussion as to whether it was composed by Cicero for a purpose or is the veritable account of a dream.

Almost all the great characters of Hebrew history were believed to be of supernatural origin. Kings resigned their scepters, Cambyses assassinated his brother, priests attained great powers as commanders, cities which had been destroyed were restored by men who changed their plans and preformed these acts because warned, as they supposed, in dreams, and with the invasion of Greece by Xerxes such night-visions had much to do.

Plato relates that when the father of Plato wished to have his son educated he took him to Socrates who, by some strange coincidence, had dreamed the night before that he bore in his bosom a young swan which as soon as the feathers came upon it displayed its wings, and singing with inexpressible sweetness raised itself into the highest regions of the air, soaring with intrepid flight. Socrates never doubted that the swan typified Plato and the boundless fame he was destined to enjoy.

Plato and Aristotle believed in dreams and Aristotle admitted that they might have a supernatural origin. OUR OWN DAILY ASHFORD. W. A. B. writes on "Our Foreign Commerce." Commerce is the exchange of commodities as when the early settlers exchanged beads and wampum to the Indians for bear skins and land and corn and other foods which were called barter. Commerce is all so called trade which is shorter and easier to spell and means with the same thing. We do not exchange commodities for beads and wampum as the Indians did but we exchange them for money because it is more valuable. In the United States we make many commodities which are called Exports and we send them all over the world and we receive a good many commodities which are called Imports but not so many which is called Favorable Trade which is when you make more exports than imports like the Indians. But we get more all so which is very valuable because we can put it in the bank and it is then called Capital and we are able to make more exports with it to send to other countries. Money is very valuable when you spend it because you can get any thing if you have enough and if you put it in the bank they do not keep it there but they spend it and so it is not wasted any how but I would rather spend it my self. If you put a dollar in the bank it will be $2 in 16 years but my father says 16 yrs. ago you could get a dinner at the Waldorf for $1 but now you couldn't even get soup for $2 if you wanted bread and butter too so he doesn't think much of that and any how I don't care very much for soup.

Aniepen has many fine Exports and all so a few Imports but not so many on account of the tariff because if we had no tariff other countries would send us too many commodities which would be unfavorable.

TAKE VACATIONS AS ABLE SEAMEN

Students Will Tour Europe This Semester Paying Way Across by Working As Sailors.

Scores of Columbia and New York University undergraduates, and hundreds of other young Americans, are planning to tour Europe this summer on the "work-your-way" plan. They have coolly decided to devote three or four months to working on vessels with the idea of seeing the world. Many have already left New York, says a writer in the New York Sun. They intend, for the most part, to visit France, England, Belgium, Germany, and possibly Italy and other Mediterranean lands.

A few of these men have purposes set out on their journey's map, but they could later boast that they saw the world for nothing. They have only to work with money earned on board ship.

For the most part the "tourists" will return to New York, get discharged and sign on another ship making a different voyage. Many of the college students have made up elaborate schedules of countries they intend to visit during the summer.

The first thing to be done, of course, is to get a passport. That kind of work matters little. Nearly every steamship line running between New York and European ports is generally free to face with a shortage. In the student's department, and it is a simple matter to get something to do—generally as a waiter or a pantryman.

England has been selected by many as the first foreign country to be visited. There are a score of Cunard and International Mercantile Marine vessels running between New York and British ports.

The journey one way occupies from a week to eleven days. These ships generally dock in Liverpool or Southampton for five days. After that time will be utilized to "do" England.

WELLESLEY GIRLS' IRE IS AROUSED BY FAKE NEWS STORIES

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Wellesley, Mass.—Wellesley college authorities are trying to head off the activities of an ingenious news peddler who, making his headquarters in Boston, has sent to newspapers all over the country complimentary but untrue stories concerning young women in the student body and members of the faculty.

His method is to query a newsman as to whether it wishes a story of which a student or faculty member living in the city or town where the paper is published is the central figure. The identical query is sent to anywhere from 50 to 100 papers, it is alleged, with a different name in each case for the heroine of the story. These names are taken from the college catalogue.

Regarding one of these stories the college publicity department says: "On April 23 there were sent out from Boston to papers all over the United States and Canada, a set of telegrams like the following, except for name and address:

"Wellesley honors Anna Abbott, 60 Main street, to represent college swapping government economic investigation."

"The story sent to these papers which would acceptance of those which would not, in some towns whose supply of students at Wellesley was limited, a member of the faculty had been selected by the student body and confirmed by the faculty as one of the 50 members of a Wellesley investigation committee."

It was at this point, it is alleged, that a systematic economic survey of the United States, in an endeavor to secure a basis for a plan to reduce the cost of living.

The irritation of the victims, of whom there are at least 100, and of their families, especially of those who have not accepted the tale as not unlikely, has naturally been considerable. It is made greater for many of the victims because this has been the second occasion they have thus received honors bestowed only by this news agency.

An earlier instance was in January last when the agency sent out a story of an "unprecedented ceremony," the time of which was left indefinite, when General Pershing, the imperial battle pennon of the German emperor, was bestowed upon the college by the student body.

The story also "the imperial battle pennon of the German emperor" was bestowed upon the college by the student body.

PRINCE, EX-GERMAN OFFICER, DONS CIVIES AS THE HUSBAND OF PRINCESS MARGARET

Princess Margaret and Prince Frederick.

Among the notable June weddings of Europe's nobility was that performed at the beginning of the month which united Prince Frederick, brother of the ex-queen of Portugal, and Princess Margaret of Saxony. The prince, a former German army officer, has discarded his uniform for civies. The picture above is believed to be the only one received in this country showing the couple together.

Russian "War Brides" Find Life Disillusioning

Manila.—Three hundred or more Russian "war brides" who have come here from Siberia with their American soldier husbands, are to be sent away on transports and come to Manila, so eager were they to escape the prevailing in Siberia almost since the beginning of the war. These stowaways were turned over to the United States by the navy department. They were married at the pier while awaiting to be put on board a transport for the voyage back to Vladivostok, which made them American citizens and gave them the right to remain here.

One of these stowaways, clad in male attire, when about to be placed on board a transport for deportation, was surprised to find that the crowd at the pier for some man to marry her and save her life from what she would have been certain death if she had returned to Siberia. The Russian money which is now of little or no value, appeared to have influenced toward bringing forth a husband for the woman, and she was sent back to Siberia.

Many an American tourist will be surprised this summer to find just outside the war torn city of Lens, France, a quaint Dutch village. The stranger will learn that the village is a gift from the people of Holland to the returning citizens of Lens, says a Popular Mechanics Magazine. The houses, all of wood and of an ingenious, knockdown construction, are now awaiting shipment from the Netherlands, where the parts were sawed and fitted. Assembled, they will shelter in comfort 500 refugees. When all the dwellings are occupied, the Dutch government will send landscape gardeners to lay out flower beds and shrubbery in harmony with the buildings.

After several weeks of investigation as to the best disposition to make of the war brides and their soldier husbands, the army authorities decided that they, with few exceptions, should be sent to the United States and there distributed among the army camps and posts, where quarters are available for married enlisted men. These the department of the Philippines is not able to provide. Only those enlisted men who have been in the Philippines in addition to their army pay will be permitted to remain in the Philippines.

Come As Stowaways. Some of the Russian girls who were disappointed in not obtaining soldier husbands at Vladivostok, disguised as American soldiers stowed away on transports and came to Manila, so eager were they to escape the prevailing in Siberia almost since the beginning of the war.

The houses, all of wood and of an ingenious, knockdown construction, are now awaiting shipment from the Netherlands, where the parts were sawed and fitted. Assembled, they will shelter in comfort 500 refugees. When all the dwellings are occupied, the Dutch government will send landscape gardeners to lay out flower beds and shrubbery in harmony with the buildings.

After several weeks of investigation as to the best disposition to make of the war brides and their soldier husbands, the army authorities decided that they, with few exceptions, should be sent to the United States and there distributed among the army camps and posts, where quarters are available for married enlisted men. These the department of the Philippines is not able to provide. Only those enlisted men who have been in the Philippines in addition to their army pay will be permitted to remain in the Philippines.

Come As Stowaways. Some of the Russian girls who were disappointed in not obtaining soldier husbands at Vladivostok, disguised as American soldiers stowed away on transports and came to Manila, so eager were they to escape the prevailing in Siberia almost since the beginning of the war.

These stowaways were turned over to the United States by the navy department. They were married at the pier while awaiting to be put on board a transport for the voyage back to Vladivostok, which made them American citizens and gave them the right to remain here.

One of these stowaways, clad in male attire, when about to be placed on board a transport for deportation, was surprised to find that the crowd at the pier for some man to marry her and save her life from what she would have been certain death if she had returned to Siberia. The Russian money which is now of little or no value, appeared to have influenced toward bringing forth a husband for the woman, and she was sent back to Siberia.

Many an American tourist will be surprised this summer to find just outside the war torn city of Lens, France, a quaint Dutch village. The stranger will learn that the village is a gift from the people of Holland to the returning citizens of Lens, says a Popular Mechanics Magazine. SHIP GRAVEYARD LOCATED IN HEART OF CHICAGO FACTORIES

Chicago.—There is a graveyard of famous fighting ships in the heart of Chicago's manufacturing district. In the Chicago river is assembled one of the stranger fleets ever assembled on the Great Lakes.

The submarine, once the U-97 and one of the prides of Admiral von Tirpitz, has little in its appearance to indicate its war record of seven allied ships sunk by torpedo and gunfire and no one knows how many destroyed by mines, for the U-47 was a mine layer. On deck she still bears a long range naval rifle, but below is only a shell. Her main engines and all her principal working parts have been stripped out and shipped to Annapolis where future officers of the navy will receive their education on machinery donated by the late Imperial German government.

The U-97 was captured after the armistice and was one of five U-boats allotted to the United States. She toured the Great Lakes during the Victory Loan drive before coming to her last rest here.

In this strangely assorted fleet is the Essex, whose ancient wooden hull was designed to break up the slave traffic on the African coast. The Yantic was built as a yacht for President Lincoln and then resold to a naval governor. Her most famous exploit was the vain attempt, in company of the Proteus, to rescue Lieutenant Greaves' art the 1-97 was surrendered at Scapa Flow after the armistice and was one of five U-boats allotted to the United States. She toured the Great Lakes during the Victory Loan drive before coming to her last rest here.

The Hawk, formerly a yacht, was sold by the late Mark Hanna, of Ohio to the government and then resold to a naval governor. Fans Wild Over Opening Of Inter-City Series At Morse Field Tomorrow

At 3 o'clock sharp the greatest baseball battle in the history of the deadly rivalry between the Fairies and the Samson Tractors. Upwards of 4,000 fans are awaiting the onward march of the hands around the face of the clock with hopes that their favorites will come away victors.

Neither team will predict a victory. Both promise a bloody battle. Scenes of wildly cheering, jeering mobs already are coming to the fore in prediction of the severest competition known between the two cities. If Beloit wins in the Gateway city park, there will be no holding the fans of that town; if Janesville cops the bacon, well, it's a good thing prohibition is in effect either way.

Milwaukee Umpires have been picked. They are the regular umpire who rule at the McCoy-Nolan games at Milwaukee and have been Special on the interurban for the big game tomorrow at Beloit. They are the regular service. Three extra cars each with a trailer have been engaged. These will leave as follows:

FOUR SAMSON GAMES FOR JULY FOURTH

Meat for the Samson Tractor ball fans will be provided in large quantities during the balance of the season, good rich, chunks. The fourth of July week-end will provide the biggest portion of baseball ever witnessed here. Four games will be out on at the Park Grounds, a double header on Monday the fifth.

The Staley Manufacturing Company of Decatur, Ill., will be the attraction for the Iron Men. This team has been putting up some good shows this year and will mean a big draw.

Efforts are being made now, by Manager Perring of the Samsons to divide with Beloit on the fifth so as to give the fans here a chance to see two foreign teams in action on the Saturdays here in the morning and bring the Eyots on in the afternoon, letting Staley run down to Beloit. This would give local bugs an opportunity to see the Eyots, who otherwise would not appear here.

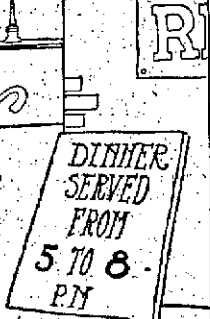

The schedule as it runs to August 22 gives four games with Fairbanks, Morse, two in July and two in August. Here are the games:

TILDEN, JOHNSTON VIE FOR TITLE IN BRITISH SINGLES

London, June 18.—William T. Tilden of Philadelphia beat Zeno Shimidzu of Japan 6-1, 6-1 and William M. Johnston of San Francisco, United States champion, defeated Major Dudley 6-1, 6-3 in the semi-finals of the London lawn tennis championship tournament here today. By these victories America has already won the singles championship. It only remains to be seen whether Johnston or Tilden is the better man in the finals tomorrow. Tilden and Johnston, tired with their opponents both of whom were considered crack players, especially the Japanese.

WHITWATER LOSES TO WAUKESHA CLUB

Palmyra, June 18.—Waukesha of the Lake Shore league, defeated Whitewater of the Central state league by a score of 5 to 3 at the Old Settlers' home coming here yesterday. Joe Peik, back from the Michigan-Ontario league was in rare form, allowing Whitewater five hits, and striking out eleven men. Dodge of Whitewater also hurled good ball, not giving eleven men on strikes. Eddie Stumpf of the Spring city club had a field day at bat getting two doubles and a single out of four trips to the plate. He also scored two of the five runs.

RUTH BEATS SOX WITH NINETEENTH!

The news is all about Babe Ruth today. That slinger of the hickory laid into his nineteenth home run of the season yesterday driving in the head of him. The heavy wind barred him from getting a similar smash earlier in the game. He struck out twice. And the rest of the story is that the Yanks defeated the Sox 7 to 2.

PROTEST PLAYERS BY HALTING GAME

Atlanta, Ga., June 18.—When members of the Little Rock baseball team arrived at Ponce de Leon park, the Southern association grounds yesterday for the scheduled game with Atlanta, they found the gates locked against them. The management of the Atlanta club, together with officials of the Mobile and Chattanooga teams, had announced earlier in the day that no games would be played with Little Rock as long as Casey Smith and Tom Seaton, formerly of the San Francisco Pacific Coast league team, appeared in the Little Rock line-up.

EDGERTON NINE TO PLAY ESSERS SUNDAY

[By Gazette Correspondent.] Edgerton, June 18.—The Tobacco City team in the Tri-County league will take on the Essers Markets of Madison here Sunday. Edgerton has been playing classy ball, holding a tie with Mt. Horeb for first place in the league. Essers are runners up in the standings.

GIVE CARPENTIER WEEK TO DECIDE ON DEMPSEY FIGHT

San Francisco, June 18.—George Carpentier will be given one week to decide whether he wants to fight Jack Dempsey for the world's heavyweight champion on or before Labor day and if he does not meet this demand it "must be taken for granted that he does not want to meet the champion," Jack Kearns, Dempsey's manager, said here on Thursday. "George Carpentier's acceptance of the champion's def is not satisfactory to us," Kearns said. "It seems to me Carpentier is trying to run out of the match."

MINNESOTA WILL NOT GIVE SUPPORT TO A DEMOCRAT

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1920 by the Janesville Gazette

Minneapolis, Minn., June 18.—Republicans here are asking many pertinent questions about the Chicago convention. Was Harding the best the convention could pick? How much did Fenwick have to do with it? Why wasn't Leffert named vice-president, and is Harding a conservative who does his own thinking or is he a conservative who takes advice from others?

The younger element in the republican party is plainly disappointed, and as one republican editor expressed it, much explaining will have to be done. But he felt they would understand as soon as they were given a comprehensive story of the true situation at how a dark horse was the only way out of the deadlock.

Preparing for Big Campaign
Some Minnesota men are frankly prejudiced against Harding. They admit they have much to learn about the personality of the man and are willing to be convinced yet one who was at the Chicago convention and he didn't like the way Harding went around in the early hours of Saturday morning last and electioneered for himself among his senatorial friends who were influenced with different delegations. Still that may be senatorial license.

This part of the country seems to be prepared for an old fashioned campaign, but some republicans the younger and more progressive type hope it will not be too old-fashioned with too much of an appeal to the conservative forces in our social and political life. The northwest be driven to a more liberal candidate elsewhere.

Not Democratic, No. Never
But the more interesting thing about the Harding candidacy is that however much it is disliked, the moment one mentions the possibility of supporting the democratic candidate there is a shudder of disapproval among these republicans which shows that partisan feeling is rather acute hereabouts. Many are already committed to Harding and the democrats will select at San Francisco and what the platform will be. There is an expectation that the democratic platform will be more liberal than that framed by the republicans but the reaction against the Wilson administration has unfortunately for the democrats precluded in many cases even the possibility of weighing the respective candidates and their platforms impartially. There is mostly an impatience to have a change, and the thought of perpetuating the Wilson administration is sufficient to turn lukewarm republicans to Harding.

Bryan Is Popular
Inside the democratic camp, particularly among the progressive elements the republican platform and candidate are viewed as a reactionary combination that cannot prevail. Minnesota democrats will go to San Francisco with militant step and enthusiastic expectations of outdoing their republican rivals. Yet the delegates from Minnesota will under the rule be voted for a conservative like Attorney General Palmer.

Another Bryan is immensely popular in these parts, particularly among the farmer, a divergence that has made more than one democrat ask whether Edward T. Meredith, secretary of agriculture, business man and farmer's man who happens to be the endorsement of Mr. Bryan and the Iowa delegation, wouldn't be a good man to head the ticket. Meredith is really worth watching. A ticket like Cox of Ohio and Meredith of Iowa would not be unacceptable to many democrats though McAdoo is much better known and is supposed to have accumulated more elements of political strength, particularly with labor, than any other candidate.

Son-In-Law McAdoo
The fact that Mr. McAdoo is the son-in-law of president Wilson is again and again cited as an obstacle to his candidacy though the cry of a Wilson dynasty is not so strong as it once was. The family relationship of Mr. McAdoo and Mr. Wilson, but upon the apprehension that Wilson policies will be McAdoo policies and that to all intents and purposes the vote will be for a third term of Wilson. There is too much disaffection among democrats to ignore this statement. Indeed, it is the fundamental reason for the growth of the Cox boom.

Cox Is Stronger
The Ohio governor has not been a part of the Wilson administration even though he must naturally say he approves of the Wilson administration in order to catch the support of the Wilson followers. Governor Cox has not only carried Ohio during the period when Harding was active in Ohio politics, but he is a trifle more so in the prohibition question. This should win him the support of such wet delegations as New York and New Jersey and he should absorb the western strength of Governor Edwards, as in Michigan and Nebraska.

Meredith A Dry Man
But Edward Meredith is a dry and so is Mr. McAdoo. The only chance for Governor Cox to be on a ticket with Meredith and earn the endorsement of Bryan is to say the prohibition amendment is now the law of the land and that it is not the business of the future chief executive, but the congress to declare how much alcohol can be used in light wines and beer. That is the attitude of Vice-President Marshall who, by the way, has many friends in this section of the country who are cordially connecting him in the light vein that he was discussed two and three years ago, the speeches made by the Vice President in the last year have won him many admirers, particularly among the conservatives.

Tom Marshall
It may be a year of conservatives, the policy of standing right by Thomas Marshall of Indiana or John W. Davis of West Virginia, at present American Ambassador to Great Britain.
But the northwest isn't expecting ultra-conservatism from the democratic party this year. It is expecting a liberal, almost socialist platform from the Democrats, and would be surprised indeed if McAdoo isn't the nominee.

BANKERS OF STATE ELECT OFFICERS

North Lake, Wis., June 18.—J. T. Jamieson, Shullsburg, was elected president of the Wisconsin Bankers' association at the twenty-sixth annual convention here Thursday. Other officers elected were: Burton A. Smith, North Lake, vice president; T. T. Hennig, Oshkosh, treasurer; M. T. Hagen, Madison; William Dreiser, Waupaca; R. D. Banny, Keshiow, and H. N. Bacon, Racine, members of the executive council.

J. T. Fuchler, president Marshall-Illesley bank, Milwaukee, was nominated for vice president of the American Bankers' association. "Money is tight in every part of the country," George E. Roberts, National City Bank, New York, told the convention in his address on the outlook for the future.

"The whole world is short of funds, equipment, capital and behind with construction and development work, with a result that we have a congestion of credit. The banks are called upon to lend freely for the government loans and to support business. The most serious feature of the situation is that we did not stop inflation with the war."

After a few months of hesitation, following the armistice, this backed up demand for goods came on the market and the pressure for credit has been as great as during the war. There is no way to get out of the present condition except by working and by getting down to fundamental conditions. The important thing is to increase production.

Frank Jackson and S. M. Smith who were intending to attend the meeting of the Wisconsin bankers, driving through, did not go on account of the heavy rains. Merton Smith and J. W. Dady of the Bank of Southern Wisconsin were in attendance from Janesville, returning Friday morning.

ASTOR HORSE WINS BUT IS DISQUALIFIED
(By Associated Press.)
Ascot Heath, June 18.—Viscount Astor's Euclyp finished first in the Ascot cup race run here yesterday, but was disqualified for fouling and the race was awarded to Sir W. Selwyn's Tangiers, which finished second. Henri Balsan's Juiveur was given second place and Lord Derby's Keysee placed third. Odds so far were laid against Tangiers in the betting; against Juiveur, 10 to 1, and against Keysee, 10 to 1.

In Wisconsin

Ashland.—Rev. Paul M. Esping, pastor of the Søren Lutheran church for the past seven years, was resigned and expects to move to Lindberg, Kansas, his former home, where he has been asked to become pastor. The Søren church has perhaps the largest congregation of any Protestant church in Ashland. In his twenty years at Ashland he has had but three pastors.

Ashland.—Ten carloads of high bred Guernsey and Holstein cattle have been purchased by the farmers of Ashland county since the 10th of last December. This represents, according to County Agricultural Agent M. H. Wright, Ashland an expenditure of $100,000 of which amount $40,000 was spent for thoroughbreds. The Guernsey and Holstein brought into the county during this period of six months have been distributed among twelve farmers. One hundred and fifty of the cows are registered.

Ashland.—In some places in northern Wisconsin, Chicago buyers have been offering $3.50 per hundred pounds for potatoes. The farmers holding out for $10. Refusing to pay this price, the buyers have been collecting their orders. The new crop is coming in, the old crop is getting poorer and prices are beginning to tumble. The crop buyers say, will either have to go to much lower prices or the crop will spoil on the owners' hands.

Ashland.—The north Wisconsin hay crop was down 50 to 100 percent, based on the condition of the crop in Wisconsin and in the vicinity of Ashland. Winter wheat was killed by a small extent, but it will be an 80 percent yield as it now looks. Spring 1920 looks good. Timely rains, averaging every five or six days, have given prospects for a good crop. The normal potato acreage may not quite reach the total of last year, on account of the high price of seed. The dry weather reported in some southern counties has not been felt anywhere in the northern part of Wisconsin.

Appleton.—The Fox River Paper company has announced the purchase of the Tetlow mill of the Kimberly-Clark company and its plan to convert the mill into a writing paper plant. Purchase of the mill makes the Fox River company the largest of the writing paper manufacturers in the United States. More than $200,000 has been expended by the Kimberly-Clark company in repairs and improvements in the mill in the last two years.

Marquette.—Lieut. John H. Cannon of this city, student at the college of journalism, University of Wisconsin, sailed this week for Europe. He will spend the summer in England, France and other countries in research work. While fighting with the fifth marine in the World war, he was awarded medals for valor by both France and America.

PAVING NOTICES GO OUT TO TAXPAYERS

Notices to citizens owing property taxes for the year ending June 30, 1920, are being sent out by City Clerk E. J. Sartell. They have 30 days in which to pay. If they wish to make payment in a lump sum for paving done this year.

They may elect either this method or the second—paying in annual installments over a period of 10 years. The latter system will no doubt prove the more popular. In case of a property owner not notifying the clerk it will be understood that he elects the 10-year method.

Street improved bonds to the amount of $160,000 were recently ordered, sold by the council.

20 BILLIONS SPENT IN RUNNING GOVERNMENT

Washington, D. C., June 18.—Governmental expenditures from July 1, 1919, to May 31, 1920, amounted to $29,775,535.85, according to a statement Thursday night of the treasury. Expenditures were heaviest during September, and lightest in November when $11,301,764.76, the treasury exclusive of $1,600,047,762, expended by the treasury, $51,224,703 charged to federal control of railroads and the transportation department.

The navy department stood third in disbursements for the period, with a total of $723,717,289, and the department of labor last with $5,064,246.

White House expenses were listed as $6,702,830, and congressional at $17,681,120. Payments on the public debt amounted to $14,846,554.373.

OSHKOSH PREPARES FOR YACHT RACES

Oshkosh, June 18.—In preparation for entertaining the annual regatta of the Inland Lake Yachting association on Lake Winnebago the week of August 18, the Oshkosh Yacht club has elected officers: Commodore, Mayor A. C. McHenry; vice commodore, Nat U. Thomas; junior vice commodore, John Thompson; fleet captain, Skipper James H. Jones; secretary and treasurer, Jay T. O'Brien; measurer, Carl Rahm; directors, Mayor A. C. McHenry, J. Steiner, J. C. Thompson, George Hiltgen and Fred A. Athearn. It is expected the fleet of racing craft from middle west clubs will be larger and faster than in several years.

Marquette.—The county board has changed the name of the town of Rat River, recently created in this county, to Silver Cliff. The name is taken from a high picturesque point on the Peshigo river. Electors of the town disagreed with the first name, petitioned for the change.

If Uncle Joe Wins This Fall He'll Break Record for Congress Service

The Cannon home at Danville, Ill., Joseph C. Cannon as he looked in 1885; the tombstone which "Uncle Joe" picked out for himself several years ago, and "Uncle Joe" in characteristic poses as he looks today.

Danville, Ill.—Uncle Joe Cannon has his eye upon a new record for long time service in congress, and his constituents are planning to aid him in achieving the distinction. If he is re-elected this fall, as now seems certain, he will begin his forty-fifth year as a congressman on March 4, next. The present record for length of service in congress was achieved by the late Senator William Boyd Allison of Iowa, who served forty-four years in house and senate. Joseph Gurney Cannon was born in Guilford, North Carolina, May 7, 1838. His father was a country doctor, who was compelled to take out a precarious livelihood by teaching school in addition to ministering to the physical ills of the community. When Joseph was but a child of four his parents, becoming dissatisfied with conditions in the south, determined to emigrate, believing that Indiana offered greater advantages. Settling in the southern part of the Hoosier state, the family engaged in agriculture, but with indifferent results. It was necessary to take Joseph out of school at an early age so that he could assist in supporting the family. Fourteen found him clerking in the general store of the village and for five years he toiled in that capacity. Listening to the gossip of the politicians who were wont to discuss the affairs of the state while gathered around the stove, the young Cannon was inspired to enter into politics. Shrewdly realizing that the profession of law furnished the natural stepping stone, and a solid medicine, the rock upon which the destines of his father had been wrecked, he utilized that $500 he had saved as clerk to pay his tuition in law school. Three years of study gave him a diploma and he was admitted to the bar in 1858. He then decided that the next step toward achieving success was to become a benedict. Mary P. Reed of Canfield, O., was the girl of his choice, and they were married Jan. 24, 1862.

To the young lawyer and embryo politician, Danville appeared to be the most inviting field available, and he and his wife commenced house-keeping, and Attorney Cannon hung up his shingle. Starting early to grant him favors, the voters elected Cannon states attorney and he served eight years as public prosecutor. States attorney in his twenty-fifth year, he was in congress when he became 37. Elected to the house in 1873, the forty-third congress, he served without a break until 1890, when the sickle voters took exception to the McKinley tariff and voted Cannon and scores of other republicans.

There was but a two-year interval, and Cannon returned to Washington to remain until 1912. Elected to the senate in 1898, he gave the republican votes, giving "Uncle Joe" another two year rest. Since then he has been continuously in the house and as the physical vigor shows little impairment with the passing years, he may achieve the extraordinary record of a half century as congressman.

Speaker Eight Years
Cannon was first elected speaker in the fifty-eighth congress and re-elected in the three succeeding. He has long been among the most interesting characters in the public eye, ranking with Andrew Jackson, the rugged and Roscoe Conkling, impetuous. He has a personality that is unique, peculiar and magnetic. The sobriquet of "Uncle" was applied by those who felt that he had a goodly share of human kindness in his makeup. He has a nature that is brimming full of quaint humor, and, above all, his admirers feel that he is richly endowed with what the common people are inclined to term "horse sense."

Uncle Joe recently declined, with his characteristic eccentricity, that the world permit another person to select his monument, but he would attend to this detail while he was alive. Accordingly he has installed in Springfield, Ill., a granite headstone, weighing fifty-six tons, and which is the most striking of the kind in the silent city. While ex-Senator Chauncey Depew granted his admirers in his native town some time ago by unveiling a statue of himself, Cannon quietly erected his own monument. It occupies a beautiful lot adjoining a picturesque lagoon.

That when a man becomes a great grandfather, he is getting along in life is fully realized by Uncle Joe. His daughter, Mrs. Ernest Leasure, is now a grandmother. Her daughter, Mrs. William Houghteling, has a new baby, christened Lucile. The veteran congressman came home recently to welcome the new arrival.

Appleton.—Wisconsin veterans of the World war, who met in Appleton Sunday, June 20, for the first annual reunion. The Wisconsin Chapter of the Rainbow Veterans' association was formed in Jodensdorf, Germany, just before the division started for home in April, 1918. Sub-chapters have been formed in Appleton, Oshkosh and Fond du Lac, home cities of the three Wisconsin companies in the division. Wisconsin veterans will be represented at the first annual reunion of the national association in Birmingham, Ala., July 12 to 14.

Cross Plains.—Howard Strains, 17, was drowned while bathing near the dam at the mill in Cross Plains. Strains, the youngest of three, was swimming near the spillway, when he and Earl Lee were seized with cramps. Frank Strains came to the assistance of Lee, and after helping him to the shore, returned to get Strains. The boy had sunk in about ten feet of water.

Lessons in Swimming

How to Swim and How to Aid Drowning Persons Will Be Told in the Department of the Gazette, Material Furnished by the Wisconsin Y. M. C. A.

THIRD INSTALLMENT

The first installment showed us how necessary it was for us to learn to swim. This article will show us why it is so important to know something about life saving. In the main it is for us to help those in need of such assistance. There are many cases of drowning each year that can be avoided if only more of us would take a little time to read up and practice on life saving.

It has been often said by the general public that it is usually the good swimmer who drowns. This is a serious charge to make, and one worth looking into. By looking into the so-called "good swimmer" drownings, we find that it usually is a fellow who thinks he is a good swimmer and who tries some dare-devil stunt which he is incapable of doing who drowns. It may be that he goes into the cold water all awestruck up, or that he may go into the water right after his neck. He may try to set how far he can swim without competent attendants, and in looking ahead forgets that he must swim back again. It therefore behooves the skilled swimmer to learn to rescue the person who may need help and to know how to release one's self from the death grip of a drowning person.

In rescuing a drowning person no time should be lost in going to his aid but unless you are a good swimmer yourself, and know how to keep cool in times of excitement you had better not attempt the rescue yourself, for while it is commendable to be a hero, there is a risk that you will lose your life instead of one. In this case it will be best for all concerned if you give the victim someone to grasp that will keep him afloat until you can get a boat to tow him to safety.

As a matter of precaution and safety on the part of the good swimmer part of the clothes should be removed. It is a matter of judgment, however, to what places to remove but in the experience of life savers they have found that the coat, shoes, and trousers are the biggest drag, therefore they were named in second place. Care should be taken not to exercise too much speed in approaching the victim for every ounce of strength and endurance available is needed to break the possible death grips and in carrying him to safety. In attempting a rescue the rescuer should never approach from the front if it is possible to avoid it and it can be in almost every case except where all are thrown out into the water the same time, and in coming up some one may grab you before you have a chance to get a good grip on him. He is more helpless and less dangerous in this position. If by accident the rescuer is seized by the drowning person he must be in position to free himself by using the old method of rendering the victim unconscious is dangerous as he will immediately sink to the bottom and it will be hard to decide how much of the existing condition is due to drowning and how much to the blow.

There are a number of so-called "death grips" which we will explain in this and later installments, but it may be well to say a word or two about these grips. It is almost needless to say that a drowning person does not drown in any certain way he grasps anything that is nearest. But these death grips are the most likely grips taken by the victim. The most likely grip by which the drowning person may grab you is in front of him is to grasp your wrist. Suppose your hands were in front of you the victim grabbing the wrists just below the hands, your wrists would be toward the weakest part of the grip. Since the fingers and thumb are the only parts holding you the weakest part would be the thumb. Therefore give your arms a quick jerk upward and then down pulling the force of the strike directly on his thumb. Now suppose the arms were at the side and the victim grasped your wrist above the wrist the break would again be toward the thumb but in the opposite direction.

DENTIST GETS HIS IN FRATERNITY INITIATION

West Orange, N. J.—Warrant charging assault and battery, issued for nine members of the Beta fraternity of the West Orange high school as a result of allegations of Dr. Howard Applegate, a dentist of this city, that she was "tarnished and tainted" in the woods near here Tuesday night during his initiation. Dr. Applegate, who is a dentist, was blindfolded, strapped, his body gagged, tarred, and covered with leaves; that he was beaten in the face; that molasses was poured into his shoes, and he was threatened with stoning if he moved. William Kitch, one of the defendants, discussing the affair, denied that Dr. Applegate was "tarnished and tainted." "The whole thing seems like more or less of a joke," he said.

In Chicago—That in Chicago has been practically selected as a station on the United States air mail route between Minneapolis and Chicago, was the information disclosed by C. T. Egge, superintendent of air service, and to perfect plans for the commencement of the service in July. City officials were advised by Egge to finish the equipment of the air field, ready here since last October, by building a hangar.

WEST POINT

OPEN FOR MEN

Madison, Wis., June 13.—A high school graduate or any man with an equivalent education who enlists in the Wisconsin National Guard this month will have an opportunity to be appointed to the academy which will be open July 1, 1921. To be eligible this candidate must have served one year in the national guard, meaning that he must not have previously been a member of the unit for a month. In cases where men who have had prior service their service will count, either national guard or army, but they must be members of the unit until July 1, 1921. The academy is federally recognized where they make their application.

The requirements are than on June 21, 1921, the candidate must have served one year in the national guard between 19 and 20 years of age, with the following exception; during the year 1921 any applicant who has served honorably and faithfully no less than one year in the armed forces of the United States or other armies in the late war with Germany and who possesses the other qualifications required by law, may be admitted up to the age of 25 years.

The purpose of the federal recognition of the army is to the effect that the date of the man's enlistment and not the date of the federal recognition of his unit will govern in determining if he has served a year in the national guard where men enlist in companies that will not be federally recognized until after July 1, this can qualify.

The war department has sent out information at this time so as to give ample notice to all who may desire to qualify for the appointment next year. It has not been decided how many candidates will be appointed, but it is expected that there will be over the number all applicants will be given an equal opportunity for the appointments.

New York.—The American National Guard announced that it would begin its first term and not become affiliated with the

CENSUS COUNT IN LARGE CITIES SHOWS RAPID PROGRESS

Washington, June 18.—The 1920 population of 150 of the 229 cities and towns which in 1910 had more than 25,000 people has been announced by the census bureau. Good progress also has been made in total population of the states.

Of the 50 cities which had more than 100,000 population in 1910 only 12 remain whose 1920 figures have not been announced. These are: Philadelphia, Cleveland, Detroit, Kansas City, Mo., Providence, Rochester, New Haven, Birmingham, Richmond, Va., Omaha, Fall River, and Grand Rapids.

Twelve cities have advanced into the 100,000 class of those thus far announced. Arranged in the order of their size they are: Akron, San Antonio, Dallas, Hartford, Youngstown, Ohio, Springfield, Mass., Trenton, N. J., Salt Lake City, Gamden, I., Norfolk, Va., Wilmington, Del., and Kansas City, Kan.

Of the 50 cities having from 50,000 to 100,000 population in 1910, the 1920 population of all but 11 has been announced. These are: Reading, Pa., Houston, Tex., Fort Worth, Savannah, Oklahoma City, Charleston, S. C., Holyoke, Mass., and South Bend.

Got Into 100,000 Class.
Twenty-six cities announced have advanced into the 50,000 to 100,000 class.

Population of only 36 of the 120 cities having 50,000 in 1910 remain to be announced, and 47 cities having less than 25,000 ten years ago have thus far advanced into the 25,000 to 50,000 class, while one, Clinton, Ia., has shown a decrease and dropped below 25,000.

YANKS AID POLES IN EVACUATION OF KIEV

Warsaw, June 18.—Americans took a prominent part in the evacuation of Kiev. They turned their automobiles over to the Polish staff for use in feeding refugees, aiding wounded soldiers and burying dead.

The American arrived in Warsaw today after six days' nights in captured bolshevik box-cars. When they departed from Kiev on the afternoon of June 10, there were six fires burning in the city. The bolsheviks were shelling Kiev and aviators were dropping incendiary bombs.

Just prior to the evacuation, Kiev's water works went out of commission and the electric and gas plants stopped working. Thousands were eager to depart, but were prevented owing to lack of transportation.

FARM MOONSHINERS CAUGHT AT ASHLAND

Ashland, June 17.—Chief of Police Blair and Sheriff Eckto discovered a still on the farm of Ed Salo, four miles north of Marengo, near Agnew, Wednesday. Forty gallons of grain mash and a complete outfit for making liquor was seized. Salo and two other men, August Sevando and Sandy Claudio, were arrested and on searching their auto, a gallon and a half of "moonshine" was discovered. The officers visited the farm and followed a foot trail through a meadow finding the still near a small stream concealed by foliage.

HOPE FOR RECOVERY OF GORGAS GIVEN UP

London, June 18.—The condition of Major General M. Gorgas, former surgeon general of the United States army, is much more serious than his friends heretofore have been willing to admit, it was learned here today.

It is reported that three or four days ago hope for the general's recovery was abandoned, but he rallied. While there has been some improvement, he is still dangerously ill.

NEGRO NOMINATED FOR ARKANSAS GOVERNOR

Forrest City, Ark.—J. H. Blount, who is the first negro to be nominated for governor in Arkansas, received his nomination at the hands of a faction of the Republican party in this state.

Blount is said to be in independent financial circumstances, owning over six hundred acres of farm land, and teaches merely for the love of the work. He is active in many fraternal orders.

This is the first time Blount has ever been a candidate for political office, but he has been active in Republican national conventions since 1884. The candidate is persistent in his pleadings with members of his race to be thrifty, industrious and clean. He declares every negro in Arkansas who farms for five years can own his own land.

Rejected Suitor Tries

To Bomb Boardinghouse
Ironwood, Ill.—June 18.—The second attempt in two days to kill Mrs. Mary Smolur, well-to-do wife of a local hardware merchant, was made Thursday when her home was partially wrecked by a dynamite bomb placed in her kitchen stove. Mrs. Smolur was seriously injured and it was stated at a local hospital that her injuries may prove fatal.

The injured woman blames the attempt on her life to a rejected suitor, a miner at Anvil.

Whiskey Seized on

Way to Cleveland
Cleveland, Ohio, June 18.—Chief of Police Connelley and federal agents seized 325 cases of whiskey being transported by automobile trucks into Cleveland from a Kentucky distillery on what the federal agents claim is a fake government permit. A New York man believed to be acting as Cleveland agent of a "million dollar" whiskey syndicate was taken into custody and was to be arraigned before a United States commissioner late today.

Swedes to Run Dye Mills, German Money Barred

Cincinnati—Swiss interests will take possession of the extensive dye works of the Ault and Wiborg company here July 1, one of his stipulations in the transaction. L. A. Ault, president of the company announces, was that "not one mill of German money, directly or indirectly, would be used at any time." The Cincinnati concern entered the dye-making field after the war was on and became one of the factors in American development of this industry.

Ashland.—B. H. Miller, principal of the Mantecue Junior high school for the past eight years, has been elected principal of the Ashland high for the ensuing year. In place of Earl M. Giesey, who retired to become sales manager for an automobile concern.
